Directions

Melt the chocolate in a water bath together with the butter and let it cool for 10 minutes.

Slowly whisk the eggs with the sugar until the sugar dissolves.

TIP: We do not want a white foam, so whisk slowly.

Combine both mixtures and incorporate the flour.

The resulting dough will keep refrigerated for 5 days.

It can be stored directly in baking molds in the fridge or in a pastry bag in the fridge.

Every mold is differently sized, but when the surface cracks during baking, it's done.
